REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

DISTRICT No. 1—UPPER VILLAGE.

Miss Annie E. George taught the school in this district during the term, with marked success. Miss George is a member of the Salem Normal School, and her method of teaching is characterized by the system and thoroughness of the excellent instruction which she is, herself, receiving.

It would be well if more of our teachers would avail themselves of the fine training which is open to them in our State Normal Schools.

DISTRICT No. 2—LOWER VILLAGE.

The summer and fall terms were taught by Miss Eliza J. Rogers, who is well known as an experienced and faithful teacher. The school prospered well under her charge. The winter term, yet in progress, is taught by Mr. Isaac H. Jones, who retains the character which he long since acquired, of a faithful teacher and an excellent disciplinarian.

DISTRICT No. 3—AIKEN'S RANGE.

The summer term was taught by Miss Maria M. Parsons, who fulfilled her duties in the most faithful and satisfactory manner, although the progress of the pupils was somewhat retarded by their irregular attendance. If parents would see that their children are not kept at home for trifles, the good result of their promptness would soon make itself seen in many ways.

The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Mary D. Webster, a member of Salem Normal school. Under her teaching the school made commendable progress, reflecting much credit upon teacher and pupils.

DISTRICT N. 4—SOUTH RANGE.

The summer term was taught by Miss Abbie M. Ewer. This was Miss Ewer's first attempt at teaching, and she acquitted herself very creditably. In the fall and winter Mr. Joseph W. Bean had charge of the school, and the best success, as usual followed his efforts.

DISTRICT No. 5—KILREA.

The school in this district has not been in session during the year, until within a few weeks, as the school house has in the time been entirely remodeled and greatly improved in every respect. Great credit is due to the district for the interest and energy which they have manifested in the matter.

DISTRICT No. 6—DERRY PEAK.

Summer term—Miss Alice M. Merrill, teacher. Miss Merrill's efforts for the good of her pupils were somewhat thwarted by a lack of co-operation on their part.

Miss Clara A. James taught the winter term with fine success.

DISTRICT No. 7—POND DISTRICT.

This school was taught during the year by Miss Laura J. Goodhue.

This was Miss Goodhue's first school and she did herself great credit in every respect.

DISTRICT No. 8—ENGLISH RANGE.

Miss Maria A. Cochran of Maine, taught this school during the summer term, acquitted herself of all her duties in the most satisfactory manner.

Miss Ella L. Fitz of Chester, was teacher in the winter. The school, on the whole, was prosperous under her care, although some of the scholars who did not wish to learn, were troublesome by their idleness and disorder, through no fault of the teacher.

DISTRICT No. 9—WEBSTER DISTRICT.

The services of Miss Clara A. James, who taught this school last year, were fortunately retained during the present year.

Under her faithful care the school steadily progresses in interest. Miss James may be considered among our most successful teachers.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Classes with Londonderry.

DISTRICT NO. 11—DERRY DEPOT.

Miss M. Louise Dana, an excellent and experienced teacher, had charge of the school during the summer, and under her care the pupils progressed finely.

The fall term was taught by Miss Ella J. Burns, who still has charge of the school. This is the first effort of Miss Burns in teaching, and she bids fair to excel.

The parents in this district have shown great interest in the school during the year, a circumstance which never fails of good effect upon both teacher and pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 12—WATERMAN HILL.

Miss Kate Evelyn Cole, of New Hampton, taught in the summer and fall, with marked success. Under her instruction the scholars made good progress in the art of thinking for themselves, a branch of education too much neglected in our common schools.

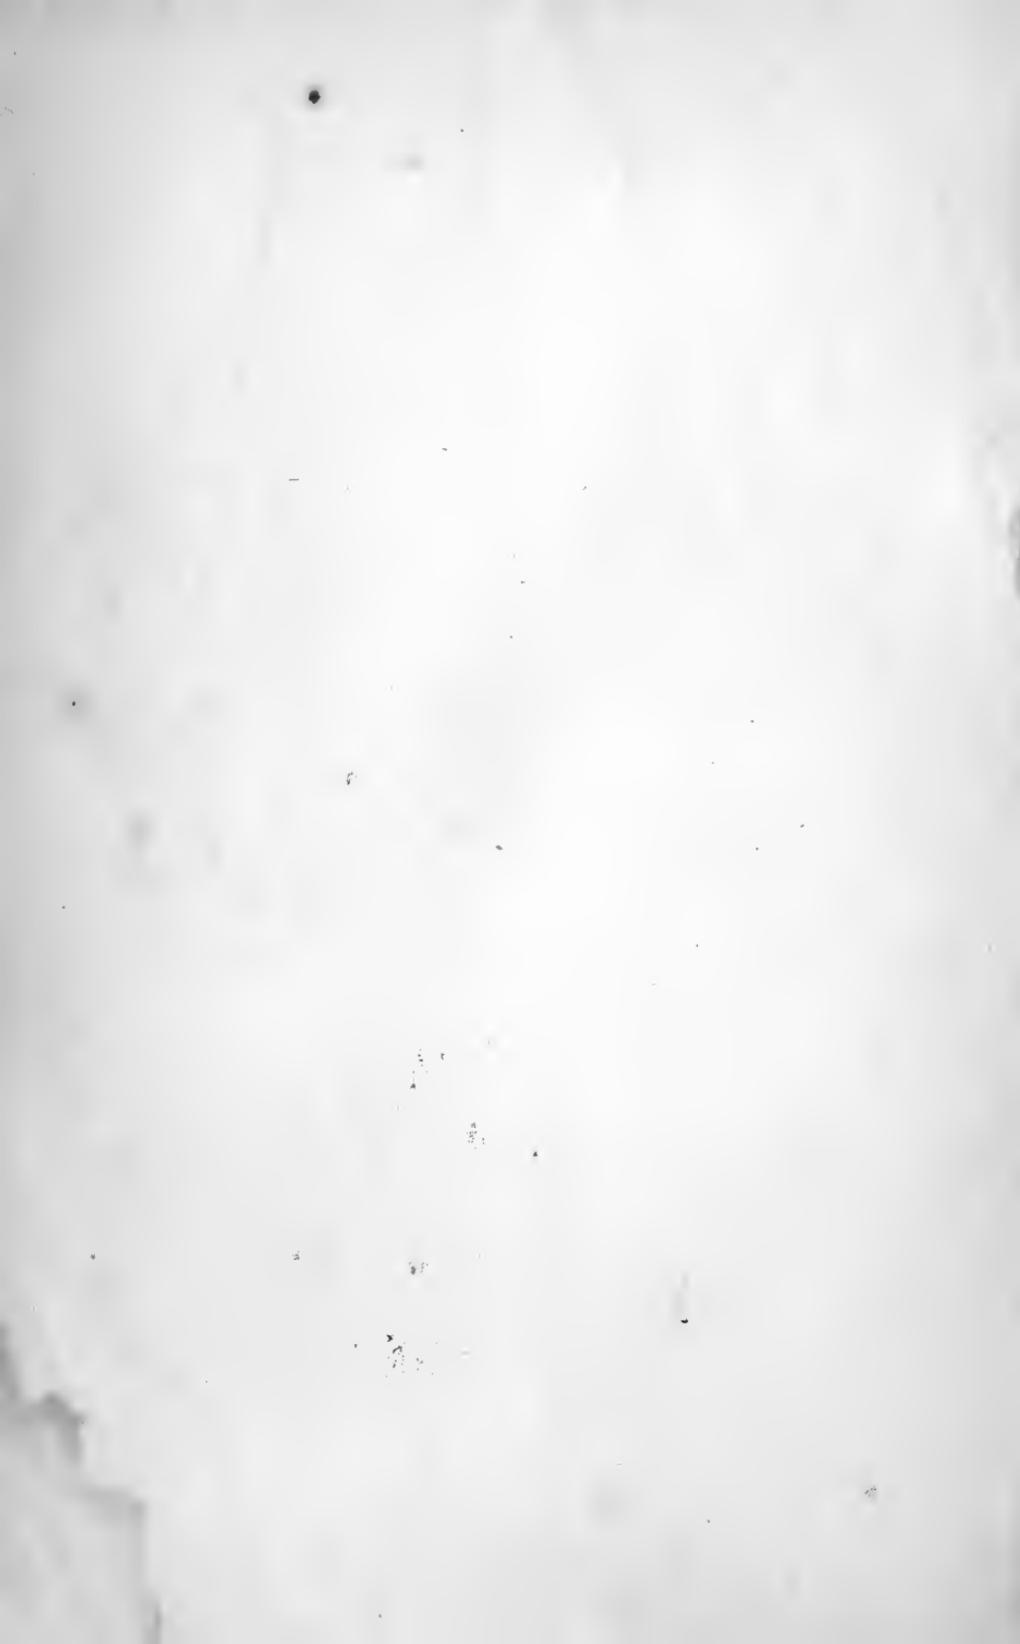

The above report with the accompanying table of statistics is respectfully submitted.
